OVERVIEW

The Honourable Halvar C. Jonson, then Minister of Education, introduced Bill 19, the School Amendment Act, on March 31, 1994. This Act enabled the establishment of charter schools – autonomous public schools that would provide innovative or enhanced means of delivering education in order to improve student learning. The proclamation into law of Bill 19 on May 25, 1994, made Alberta the first province in Canada to take such a bold initiative.

This handbook has been prepared to assist Albertans in understanding the provincial charter school concept, to assist charter organizers with their planning and preparation for the establishment of charter schools, and to assist those responsible for processing charter school applications.

What is a Charter School?

A charter school is a public school that provides a basic education in a different or enhanced way to improve student learning.

The expectation for the educational services offered by charter schools is that they will be different from what is locally available. Charter schools must demonstrate the potential to improve the learning of students. In general, charter schools complement the educational services provided in the local public system. They represent an opportunity for successful educational practices to be recognized and adopted by other public schools for the benefit of more Albertans. Although types of charter schools vary across the province, they do have the following common characteristics.

Access — Charter schools cannot deny access, if sufficient space and resources are available, to any students who meet the requirements of section 8 of the School Act. [The current version is the School Act (RSA 2000), last amended on June 1, 2015.] In other words, any student may attempt a program provided by a particular charter school. For more information, see “Selection” on page 4.

Charter — A charter is an agreement between the Minister of Education and an individual or group regarding the establishment and administration of a charter school. The charter describes the unique educational service the school will provide, how the school will operate and the student outcomes that it intends to achieve.

Choice — A charter school will provide enhanced or innovative delivery of public education to students. This means that parents and students have increased opportunity to choose an education that best serves student needs.

Curriculum — The curriculum delivered by charter schools will be structured around a basic education as defined by Alberta Education and described in the Programs of Study. Generally, education programs must meet the conditions outlined in section 39 of the School Act. This allows students to transfer to or from any public school with a minimum of disruption and to obtain a high school diploma. In addition, students attending charter schools must write Provincial Achievement Tests, Provincial Diploma Exams and any other tests the Minister prescribes.

Funding — Charter schools are eligible for the same provincial funding per student as any other public school. For specific amounts, please refer to the Funding Manual for School Authorities for the current school year.

Non-religious — Charter schools may not be affiliated with a religious faith or denomination. A charter school may provide religious instruction and exercises under section 50 of the Act, as may any other public school. Charter schools are not private religious schools, nor are they intended to replace the services offered by private religious schools.

Purpose — Charter schools are expected to improve student learning by providing a different educational environment beyond the services provided by the existing school board. (See “What is a Charter Board?” on page 3.) The charter boards that operate the schools will have flexibility and considerable autonomy to implement innovative or enhanced educational services that will broaden the range of educational opportunities and enhance student learning. Enhanced student learning means improved acquisition, in some measurable way, of knowledge, skills and attitudes.

Specialization — Charter schools will specialize in a particular educational service or approach in order to address the needs of a particular group of students. Charter schools may complement or add to existing local programs where there are a sufficient number of students who could benefit from the program.

Tuition Fees — Charter schools shall not charge tuition fees. However, they may charge parents for fees for instructional supplies or materials, as may all schools in the public education system [section 60(2)(j), School Act].

What is a Charter Board?

A charter board is a corporate body responsible for operating and governing one or more charter schools. All schools run by a single charter board are subject to the same charter and governance procedures. The Minister may approve up to 15 charter boards in the province. The rights and responsibilities of a charter board are listed below.

Accountability — Each charter board is accountable for its charter school(s). A board is responsible for ensuring that the charter school complies with charter board procedures and the terms of the charter, as well as provincial legislation, regulation and policies.

A charter board is accountable to the students, parents, community and the Minister of Education. The Minister will ensure that the charter school is operated according to its charter, and that it achieves the outcomes outlined in the charter as required by provincial legislation, regulation and policies.

As with any school board, a charter board is publicly accountable for student achievement in the school. The charter board must make publicly available annual reports that describe how well students are accomplishing their educational goals, certain documents and reports under section 75 of the School Act, and any other information requested by the Minister (section 77).

Autonomy — A charter board has the authority and autonomy to operate a charter school. This board will develop governance procedures subject to its charter agreement with the Minister of Education. Typically, a charter board provides direction through the superintendent of the charter school. The school administration conducts the day-to-day operations.

Financial Reporting — A charter board must appoint an independent auditor and annually submit an Alberta Education Budget Report Form and an Audited Financial Statement. These must reflect the financial operation of the charter school. In addition, charter boards must operate within a balanced budget (sections 145 to 152 of the School Act).

Governance — A charter school is operated by a corporate body in accordance with section 31(1) of the School Act. The charter school may be governed by the board of directors of the corporate body, or the board may establish under it another body whose sole responsibility would be the governance of the charter school. In either case, this governing body is called the charter board, and its membership should represent parents and teachers of students in the school as well as community members. In accordance with the provisions of the Societies Act or the Companies Act (see Question 1, page 6), the charter board must have by-laws and procedures for governance of the board as well as for governance of the charter school.

Non-profit — Charter schools are non-profit schools and they shall be operated by non-profit corporate entities.

Reviews — As part of the public system of schools, students of charter schools or their parents may ask the Minister to review any charter board decision about the expulsion of a student or the amount and payment of fees or costs (section 124 of the School Act). In addition, the Charter Schools Regulation allows for a review by the Minister if a student has been denied access to a charter school. Forced resignation of a charter board member may also be reviewed by the Minister.

Selection — If student enrolment exceeds the capacity of the program, the school will select students in accordance with a selection process established by the charter board (see “What is a Charter Board?” on page 3). The selection process may set priorities in such matters as attendance areas, access for siblings, and the order in which applications were received. The selection process must be open and fair. For more information, see “Reviews.”

Staffing — Charter boards are regulated by the Labour Relations Code, the Employment Standards Code and all applicable professional codes. The teachers employed at charter schools must be certificated. Other staffing arrangements are subject to the decisions made by the charter board in compliance with the provisions of the charter and with provincial legislation, regulations and policies.

Things to Consider Before Preparing an Application

Before applying for charter school status, prospective applicants should give careful thought to the following.

- Why do we need a charter school?
- Is this educational program already available locally?
- Can the program be provided locally?

Individuals or groups, whether parents, teachers, or some other stakeholder group, must follow these steps in seeking approval to open a charter school.

The applicants should first approach their local school board and request that it establish an alternative program of choice in accordance with section 21 of the School Act. The school board then examines their request to determine if such a program already exists as an entity within the school board or if the concept could be explored and established as an alternative program. The school board may meet the request for choice by demonstrating that the program is already offered or by deciding to work with the individual or group to establish an alternative program. The school board may also decide to refuse the request.

If the individual or group is able to demonstrate that the program being requested is not offered by the school board, and the school board is not willing to consider alternative program status, then the individual or group may choose to apply for charter school status. Before preparing the application, the charter organizers should consider the following.

- Is there evidence of significant support from the community in which the school is to be located, especially from local parents and students?
- Is there a body of independent research to support the assertion that the proposed educational program will potentially improve student learning in a way that can be measured against other schools not belonging to the same charter board?
- Is the proposed program innovative, in that it expands choice in the geographical area where it will be established?

If the answer to each of the above questions is yes, then the charter organizers may apply for charter school status. The application must meet the criteria set forth in the Charter Schools Regulation. The Minister of Education will review the application based on how well it furthers the province's purposes for establishing a charter school, which are to:

- stimulate the development of enhanced and innovative programs within the public education system
- provide increased opportunities for student learning within the public education system
- provide parents and students with greater opportunities for choice within the public education system
- provide teachers with a vehicle for establishing schools with enhanced and creative methods of educational instruction, school structure and management
- encourage the establishment of outcome-based education programs.

For assistance with the application process, see Appendix A.

Questions and Answers

Eligibility

1. Who is eligible to apply for a charter to start a charter school?

Applicants could include parents, teachers and/or community members. Applicants must become incorporated according to the School Act [section 31(1)]. This section states that a charter school can be operated either by a person or a group of individuals incorporated under the Societies Act, or by a company registered under Part 9 of the Companies Act.

Governance

2. Why are statements about the philosophy, purpose and goals for each charter school so important?

The philosophy, purpose and goals define a charter school's reason for existence. These statements show how the school meets an educational need that is not being met by the local school board. The statements should be measurable, tied to improved student learning, and should form the basis for educational decision-making.

3. What are the responsibilities of a charter board?

A charter board must understand the ways of selecting its members; the roles and responsibilities of the members; the relationship between the charter board and the charter school; and the school council's roles and responsibilities. The charter board should be guided by the philosophy or focus of the charter.

Other duties of a charter board include the development and implementation of a student code of conduct; a policy for discipline, suspension and expulsion; personnel policies; and a management operation plan, all in keeping with the provisions of the School Act. Section 12 of the Charter Schools Regulation sets out further responsibilities of the charter board.

A charter may be repealed by the Minister if he determines that the charter board is not meeting its charter or provincial commitments. The Minister's decision will be final.

4. Are charter schools required to have school councils?

Yes. Each charter school must establish a school council, as required by section 22 of the School Act. The majority of the school council membership must be parents of students enrolled in the school. Students and teachers may also be represented on the school council. The principal's role on the school council is defined in section 20 of the School Act.

5. Does a charter school require a principal?

Yes. Section 19 of the School Act states that a board shall assign a principal to each school. Section 20 outlines the duties of the principal. Both sections apply to charter schools.

6. Must charter boards use the services of a school superintendent?

As per section 113 of the School Act, a charter board shall make provision for acquiring the services of a person who is approved by the Minister to serve as a superintendent to fulfill those functions required by provincial legislation, regulations and policies. For example, a recommendation for permanent certification of a teacher must be made by a superintendent.

7. Must charter boards have a secretary-treasurer?

Yes. Section 116 of the School Act requires that a secretary-treasurer be appointed and that person must be bonded. The Minister shall be notified of this appointment. This does not have to be a full-time position.

8. How can a charter be amended?

A charter agreement must include a process to change the charter. It is important that parents and teachers be consulted as part of the amending process. Any amendment requires the approval of the Minister before implementation.

9. Can a charter board sign contracts?

Yes. A charter board is a corporate body and may enter into contractual arrangements to comply with the School Act and meet the requirements of the charter. The charter will list any contractual arrangements that it plans to make. These may include: leasing facilities for instruction; transportation of students; custodial, repair and maintenance services; superintendency and secretary-treasurer services; teacher secondments; and leasing instructional resources.

Accountability

10. Why are charter boards held accountable?

A charter board promises to improve student learning beyond the services provided by the existing local school board. So that the charter school(s) may achieve this goal, the charter board is provided with increased flexibility and autonomy. Consequently, these obligations must be balanced with an accountability requirement to ensure that the charter board is achieving the results that it has promised.

The operation of a charter school will be reviewed as outlined in Appendix B.

11. Do the accountability requirements of a charter board exceed those of a local school board?

Yes. Charter boards must be accountable for their operation and results just as other public school boards are accountable. In addition, charter boards are accountable for demonstrating that implementation of the charter goals has resulted in improved student learning outcomes and growth.

12. If a particular charter school has demonstrated success with its program, will permanent charter status be awarded?

No. All charters are term-specific and must be renewed. Each renewal will be determined largely by the results of regular school evaluations. As long as a charter school continues to demonstrate success and to meet all the criteria identified in the Charter Schools Regulation, its charter may be renewed upon request.

13. Can a charter board ask the local school board to take over the operation of a successful charter school?

Yes. At some point, the charter board may decide to turn over the operation and governance of a successful charter school to the local school board. Under these circumstances, the charter school would be dissolved through the process outlined in the charter. It is expected that the local school board would then adopt the successful educational practices of the charter school.

14. Must the charter school be housed in a particular type of facility?

No. The School Act broadly defines a school as a structured learning environment through which an education program is provided to students. However, there is an expectation that whatever facility is used will augment the philosophy and learning expectations of the school. The school facility must also comply with provincial legislation and local by-laws regarding health, safety, fire and zoning. A charter school may use all or part of an existing school, a private or public facility, or any other suitable location. The charter board may own, lease or rent its facility.

Programs

15. How will the Minister know if student achievement is meeting expectations?

Since charter schools vary across the province, it is unrealistic to expect the Minister to structure an appropriate student assessment model to fit all charter schools. Therefore, the charter organizers are responsible for designing a student assessment model that will be an accurate measure of how well students are achieving learning expectations.

16. Since access cannot be denied to any student, must a charter school expand its range of educational programming to address the needs of all potential students, including those with special needs?

Not necessarily. A charter school is designed to meet the needs of a specific group of students, not every student in Alberta. Sections 44 (Resident Student) and 47 (Students with special needs must be provided with appropriate educational services) of the School Act do not apply to charter boards, since that responsibility is already delegated to local school boards. However, any student may attempt an educational program provided by a charter school.

17. Can students with behavioural problems be denied access to a charter school?

No. All students have access to a charter school. The charter school must have a discipline policy, which is to be applied equally to all students. Any student who is expelled from a charter school can request the Minister to review this matter.

Students

18. Is there a minimum student enrolment?

Yes. At school opening, the total minimum student enrolment is set at 100 students, or another number that, in the opinion of the Minister, is high enough to ensure that the school is financially and educationally viable. The financial and educational viability of a charter school is paramount. Charter organizers must be aware that low student enrolment may result in a deficit or compromise student achievement. Charter boards must maintain a balanced budget and are required to show that they are improving student learning.

Teachers

19. Must charter schools employ certificated teachers (including principals) for instructional purposes?

Yes. All teachers offering instruction must hold a certificate of qualification.

20. Must teachers (including principals) be active members of The Alberta Teachers' Association (ATA)?

If a charter board employs its own teachers, the teachers cannot be active members of the ATA, since the Teaching Profession Act applies only to school boards. However, a charter board may choose to second a teacher from a school board or employ a teacher who has taken a leave of absence from the school board. In both cases, the teacher remains an employee of the school board and is required to be an active member of the ATA.

21. Must charter school teachers contribute to the Teachers' Retirement Fund (TRF)?

Yes. Any teacher employed by a charter school must contribute to and will receive benefits from the TRF. The TRF Act was amended in 1994 to include charter school teachers.

Grants

22. What Alberta Education grants are available to charter schools?

See the current Funding Manual for School Authorities, available on Alberta Education's Web site at www.education.alberta.ca

23. Will start-up grants be available to charter schools?

No. Additional funding is not available for start-up costs. However, Alberta Education may advance payments taken from the projected charter school grant allotment for the year. This would be a one-time advance only.

- 24. Is the charter school eligible to raise funds in addition to provincial grants?
 Yes. Charter schools are free to fundraise and accept donations, just like public schools. Any gifts, grants, donations, student or parent fees, charges for student or school services, benefits, and any other assets the charter school may obtain in addition to provincial grants, must be included in the charter school's annual financial report.
- 25. Will provincial grants flow directly to the charter board?
 Yes. Provincial grants will flow directly to the charter board.
- 26. What will happen to a surplus or deficit of the charter board when a charter school ceases to operate?
 A balanced budget is required, so a deficit is not permitted. Any surplus that can be attributed to provincial funding will be returned to the provincial treasurer.
- 27. Are charter board and school council members eligible to receive payment for their services?
 No. Members of the charter board and members of the charter school council are not eligible for any honoraria, payments or benefits for any services provided. However, travel and subsistence expenses may be paid.

Applications

- 28. At what point in the application process must conditions stated in the Charter Schools Regulation be met?
 All criteria required by the Regulation must be completed before final approval is granted. However, preliminary approval may be given first, thus enabling charter organizers to continue proceeding with the procurement and organization of facilities, resources and services. The Regulation specifies the information that charter organizers are required to provide to the Minister before preliminary approval may be granted.
- It is important that charter organizers have a clear picture of how their school will look and operate and how it will demonstrate improved student learning.
- 29. Must charter schools provide transportation for their students?
 No. As section 51 of the School Act does not apply, charter boards are not required to provide transportation. However, parents should be told whether the charter board has made arrangements for transportation.
- 30. Must charter boards be insured?
 Yes. Any charter board must, at a minimum, carry insurance in accordance with section 60(1)(b) of the School Act. The secretary-treasurer must be bonded in accordance with section 116(c) of the School Act. The charter board also will be required to carry indemnification insurance to cover any financial obligations that cannot be met. The Minister cannot be held liable for any unmet financial obligations of a charter board.

APPENDIX A: APPLYING FOR CHARTER SCHOOL STATUS

I. Steps to Follow

Once charter organizers have decided to proceed with an application for charter status, these steps should be followed.

1. The local school board and the charter organization must make every attempt to arrive at an agreement for the establishment of an alternative program under section 21 of the School Act.
2. The local school board has 60 school days to reject the application for an alternative program. The local school board must inform the charter organizers, in writing, stating the reasons for rejection if the application is not approved.
3. If the local school board rejects the application, the charter organizers have 30 school days to submit a charter school application directly to the Minister along with all correspondence between the board and the applicants. Charter organizers should follow the requirements given in the Charter Schools Regulation when preparing their application (see Charter School Application Requirements, page 14.) A committee may be appointed to review the application and advise the Minister of its recommendations. The Minister then has 60 days to decide whether to approve the charter as submitted, approve it with conditions, or reject it stating the reasons for doing so. This decision will be final.

II. Flow Chart for the Establishment of a Charter School

The following flow chart summarizes the steps that lead to the establishment of a charter school.

III. Charter School Application Requirements

A potential charter school should ensure that application documentation sent to Alberta Education addresses the following points.

- Charter applicants will indicate their plans to gather data to ensure that performance measurement will show clear evidence of success. Performance measurement will demonstrate that outcomes have been successfully attained in:
 - those unique aspects of philosophy, vision and purpose written as charter goals that set the school apart from other schools
 - improved student learning
 - goals required of all public schools in Alberta.
- The school will operate in a manner consistent with:
 - all applicable provisions of the School Act (RSA 2000)
 - current Programs of Study
 - current Funding Manual for School Authorities.
- The school will be administered and governed effectively.
- The school will be viable and fiscally responsible.
- The school program will be successful in the eyes of the school council, community, students, parents, staff and Alberta Education.
- Other public schools in Alberta will have the opportunity to learn from the charter school's innovative programming and techniques.

The information provided on pages 15 to 18 organizes the required documentation into stages for submission to the Minister of Education. This approach allows applicants to determine if the Minister will approve a proposed concept prior to undertaking the additional tasks identified in the final application stage.

Applicants are asked to label one section of the final application as “The Charter.” Information to be included in that section of the final application is indicated on page 18.

After the Minister has given final approval to an application, some additional information, identified as Commencement Information, will be required near the time of school opening. That information can be found on page 19.
